TRUSTEES REPORT

The Trustees (who are also Directors for the purposes of the Companies Act) present their annual report and accounts for the year ended 31st March 2024.

REFERENCE AND ADMINISTRATIVE DETAILS

Christian Engineers in Development is a Charity registered in England and Wales and is also registered as a Company limited by guarantee.

The Trustees of the Charity and the Directors of the Charitable Company for the year 2023/24 were:

Robert William BRIGHOUSE – Chair of Trustees
Jonathan APPLEBY – CEO and Chair of Executive Committee
David William BEAK – Treasurer
Barbara Anne BRIGHOUSE - Secretary
Dr Richard FRANCEYS
Colin David GIBSON

There are no other Trustees who served during the year.

STRUCTURE, GOVERNANCE AND MANAGEMENT

Governing Documents

The Charitable Company is governed by:

- The Memorandum of Association of Christian Engineers in Development dated 19th December 1985.
- The Articles of Association of Christian Engineers in Development dated 19th December 1985.

There are no restrictions to operations mentioned in the Governing Documents.

Appointment of Trustees

Trustees are usually appointed temporarily by the Board of Trustees, such appointments to be ratified by the membership of the Charitable Company at the Annual General Meeting following such an appointment. Trustees may also be elected from the membership of the Charity at Annual General Meetings. One third of the Trustees retire each year but are eligible for re-election at the Annual General Meeting in the year that they retire. In accordance with the Articles of Association, Robert Brighouse and Colin Gibson retired by rotation at the Annual General Meeting on 9th September 2023. They were both willing to stand again and were re-elected.

Trustee training and induction

The Trustees seek to reflect the needs and aims of the charity on its board, along with the more traditional business and charity management skills. Limited induction is provided to new Trustees since they are drawn from the CED membership.

Organisational structure

The Trustee Board comprises the CEO of the Executive Committee, the Treasurer, the Secretary and elected non-executive directors. The Board is chaired by a non-executive director.

The Executive Committee comprises a CEO and Chair, the Treasurer, the Secretary and CED members taking voluntary roles in operations and administration.

The Charitable Company is managed by its voluntary Trustees, as a group, but with individuals taking roles as Chair, Treasurer and Secretary. Major decisions are normally taken at the Trustees' meetings, which consider future strategy, receive information on progress against plans, and respond to issues arising. Urgent decisions are taken by consultation between the officers and any Trustee involved with the matter under consideration. Decisions related to ongoing operations and administration are delegated to the Executive Committee.

Trustees Meetings

The Board of Trustees met four times during the year. Under the terms of the Articles of Association, Trustees' services are unpaid.

The Trustee Board and Executive Committee carry out a review of the risk register at each meeting. Overseas travel remains an area of risk, but members on visits take out the required insurance and risk assessments are carried out. As regards project cost overruns, the Project Fund provides a good degree of reserve cover, and care is now taken in project terms and conditions not to accept open ended liabilities.

Trustees' Responsibilities

Company law requires Trustees to prepare accounts for each financial year that give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the Charitable Company and of the incoming and outgoing resources of the Charitable Company for that period. In preparing these financial statements the Trustees are required to:

- select suitable accounting policies and apply them consistently,
- make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent,
- observe applicable Accounting Standards.
- prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Charitable Company will continue its activities.

The Trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the Charitable Company and enable them to ensure that the accounts comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Charitable Company and for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

CED's primary purpose identified by the Directors in September 2016 and confirmed in February 2020, is as follows: CED exists to demonstrate the love of Christ by enabling Christians with engineering and allied skills to help the poorest communities.

Values and Way of Working

Almost all activities are carried out by Trustees and members on a voluntary basis. This covers both the management of the charity and the engineering services that are offered. Members can be paid fees for project work to recognize loss of earnings and fees are paid to the CED engineering representative in Uganda. Values are important to the organisation and to the individual members. CED maintains integrity and professional standards in its advisory work, its organisational management and its behaviours. It has a strong Christian ethos demonstrating a faithful commitment to service without seeking to impose that faith on others. CED is open to operating in partnership with people of all faiths or none. Its approach is to work with local communities - providing technical support and advice but relying on the active involvement of local people to build the ownership and ongoing commitment essential for sustainability.

A wide range of policies are in place including Conflict of Interest, Bribery, Gifts and Hospitality, Safeguarding, Travel and Subsistence, Diversity, Data Protection, Social Media, Environmental, Equal Opportunities, Complaints and Whistleblowing, in addition to a Code of Conduct. Policies are regularly reviewed. The Trustees confirm that they are satisfied that they have had at all times regard to the Charity Commission's guidance on public benefit.

ACTIVITIES AND FUTURE PERIODS

The principal activity of the Charitable Company in the year was the relief of poverty and distress and the prevention of disease world-wide through the application of engineering skills, together with the promotion of the Christian faith. This was achieved by:

- the use of engineering and technical skills and expertise,
- arranging for personnel with relevant technical skills to operate with other organisations in connection with development projects.
- inviting contributions and applying for grants towards the cost of projects undertaken in the furtherance of the charitable purposes of CED.
- printing and publishing booklets and other literature and organising displays publicising the work of CED,
- co-operation with other organisations having similar objectives to CED.

CED was active during the year in Sierra Leone, Tanzania and Uganda, working in association with local partner organisations. A major project in Sierra Leone is being completed and brought into operation working in partnership with the UK charity Practical Tools Initiative. Technical advice for a hospital in the Democratic Republic of the Congo was provided from the UK.

Typically, CED provides technical assistance with investigations, scheme development and design, contract management and commissioning. Where necessary it will help with securing project finance. CED now has an established record of enabling and directing such development schemes in a number of poorer communities that have improved the lives of large numbers of people. A good example of what can be achieved can be seen in the favorable impacts on the lives of communities in Tanzania where CED's Rainwater Harvesting programme has seen over 30 masons trained and approaching 100 tanks being built and has demonstrated real improvements for the most disadvantaged people and the wider community. A "Tap twinning" initiative has been launched with the aim of ensuring the financial sustainability of this programme.

Principal Funding Sources and Expenditure

Income from members and supporters, together with other unrestricted donations, is used to maintain CED's administration and provide finance for engineering services offered to client charitable and church organisations at little or no charge. At the request of clients CED also secures dedicated funding from various grant giving bodies, ranging from governmental organisations to local charities, for the engineering projects that it supervises.

Engineering Operations

Following the end of most COVID 19 related restrictions CED members were more able to readily travel overseas. In addition CED Executive member Ian Rankin has been based in Tanzania in a private capacity and Philip Tibenderana has continued as the CED representative in Uganda. This has facilitated work on project development, evaluation and enabled progress to be made with support of local partners. Examples include:-

Rwanda Members visited multiple sites reviewing previously completed work, assessing maintenance requirements and evaluating current needs to determine whether CED can assist in provision of solutions. (£2,248). Sierra Leone Work entering final phase in the village of Manowa, with the building of latrines, borehole, storage tank, tap/pipe network as part of the development of a water supply scheme (£73,382). Tanzania:

- Rainwater harvesting workshops continued using a team of previously trained workers with financial subsidies being offered towards construction material costs for tanks (£18,475).
- Members visited Buhuri to assess work required to repair dam (£714).

Uganda:

- Engineering advice and start-up funding was provided for a small hydro-electric scheme at Kuluva Hospital (£6,687) and further design work was carried out at Rwembya for a hydro scheme aimed at serving Kagando Hospital where a solar powered solution is under review. (£1,151).
- Installation completed of second Clariwash filter as part of water filtration system at Kagando Hospital (£12,212).

Project Financing

The Board was grateful to receive a grant from SECMA for the Manowa project in Sierra Leone and Rainwater harvest programme in Tanzania totalling £47,000, (Note 9). Smaller donations were received from individuals and charities for the Rainwater Harvesting programme in Tanzania, the Kuluva Hydro project in Uganda and the Clariwash filter project at Kagando Hospital in Uganda.

Note 13 details money provided from General Funds £20,800 and Designated Funds £502.

The restricted fund balance relates to money already in hand for projects. The largest amount at 31st March 2024 related to the balance of SECMA grant (£42,176).

Legacy Fund

The Trustees were very grateful to receive in 2017 a legacy of £161,712 from the late William Beak who had been a CED Supporter. No restrictions were placed on the use of the money, but it is most likely to be used to support project work overseas. The Board has set up a designated fund so that the use of the money is separately accounted for.

(See Note 13 of the Accounts)

FINANCIAL REVIEW

Overall Financial Situation

The finances of CED have been in a strong position since receipt of the legacy.

The level of donations from supporters and other individual donors remained at a high level. The generosity of many individuals, churches and charities that regularly support us is greatly valued.

Activity overseas increased where schemes were able to proceed with the support of local supervision.

The Board and Executive meetings were generally held online but in person meetings are held at least once a year in addition to the AGM. Local member meetings were limited with those held being either in person or online. Generally the costs of managing the charity are kept low as most activity is undertaken on a voluntary basis.

Reserves

The Trustees' policy is to hold at least £10,000 in unrestricted funds as a "revenue" reserve to provide a working balance and meet any unexpected decreases in income or increases in running costs. The target level was achieved at the year end when free reserves stood at £10,017.

In the light of past financing experience, the Project Fund was established in 2011 to provide:

- Temporary financing of projects to enable development costs to be incurred ahead of fundraising.
- A balance of funds available to finance any future project overspends (a "capital" reserve).

The money raised and allocated to this fund is described as to be used for project purposes, and so the Fund has been classified as a designated fund to demonstrate its use for that purpose. The balance on this Fund was reduced in 2021/2022 as the size of schemes now being undertaken does not warrant having so much in hand to provide for possible overspending. Total reserves at 31 March 2024 were £156,266 (2022 £175,632). (See Note 13 of the Accounts)

Future Direction and Strategy

In September 2016 the Directors took time away to review the purpose of CED and its future strategy. A subtle, but significant, change of emphasis was made to the primary purpose of the charity. The previous focus as an overseas service organisation was modified to recognise the unique function of CED in offering Christians the opportunity to use their skills to benefit the poor. That purpose was confirmed at a further Board strategy review in February 2020 and is set out on Page 4.

The Board considered the present performance of CED in February 2020 and concluded that it was content with the current size and modus operandi. There was no requirement to try to grow. There were advantages in being small, especially the ability it gives to value and maintain close associations with the people who contribute to its work. The charity does, however, need to understand and react to changes in its operating environment. Thought continues to be given to the use of social media to reach a wider audience. There seems little prospect, however, of gaining any significant benefit from online fundraising. More emphasis is being put on mitigating the environmental impact of CED's activities both at home and overseas. Particular effort has been devoted to disseminating technical knowledge and experience. No "Tech Talks" were held during the year but are planned to recommence in late 2024.

Independent examiner's report to the members of Christian Engineers in Development

I report on the accounts of the company for the year ended 31 March 2024, which are set out on pages 9 to 16.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The trustees (who are also the directors of the company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act) and that an independent examination is needed.

Having satisfied myself that the charity is not subject to audit under Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006 and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

examine the accounts under section 145 of the 2011 Act;

- follow the procedures laid down in the General Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145 (5) (b) of the 2011 Act; and
- state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the General Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and consequently no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

- (1) which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:
- to keep accounting records in accordance with section 386 of the Companies Act 2006; and
- to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records, comply with the accounting requirements of section 396 of the Companies Act 2006 and with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charities

have not been met; or

(2) to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
